JACKSON—ITS PRESENT AND FUTURE.

THE publisher after an interval of two years presents his third directory of the city of Jackson. The rapid progress of the city in wealth and population suggests some considerations which may be of interest to those who consult our book.

The tendency of men's opinions is like that of travel upon earth roads, to form ruts which direct the courses of thought, and influence greatly the development of both mind and matter. Among the deep grooves worn before the invention of railroads and the perfecting of the steam engine, are those which limit the sites of large cities to the margins of navigable waters, and the development of manufacturing industry to localities having the advantage of immense water power. It is as hard to run counter to a prejudice as to sail against a head wind. It requires some risk and exertion to get out of a deep rut, and more than common boldness to mark out and keep a new course either upon land or water; but when it comes to riding the waves of public opinion, he is deemed audacious or demented who pursues any course where his eye is not constantly steadied by old landmarks, or who makes an original and independent judgment the compass by which he steers. We thus suggest the difficulty which lies in the way of building interior cities. Were all men now to commence thinking and observing anew, and the facts granted that except for wide tracts of ocean, carriage by land has become cheaper than carriage by water, and the production of power with cheap coal more economical than with dams, races, and water wheels, then the considerations that twice the tributary territory and population can be reached with the same radius, and that a coal field is worth more than a cataract, would establish it as a received opinion among men that the best site for a city is away from the inland sea or the foreign frontier, and at a point where an abundance of cheap fuel may be obtained. The independent searcher for a combination of advantages would find, where Jackson is located, valleys extending in all directions (seven of which are already occupied by railroads), a fertile surrounding country, and underlying beds of sandstone, slate, fireclay, and lime, as well as of bituminous coal. He might look around him and see that here also the horizon is equally distant in all directions, and above him to perceive that he is exactly beneath the center of the great blue vault which covers the earth. If he challenges comparison, he will find that competitors will lack—some the fertile country, some the cheap coal and other mineral products, all or nearly all the facilities afforded by radiating valleys for railroad building and communication, some the opportunities for business in all directions, and some we may add the intelligent and combined efforts of leading citizens to develop the advantages given by nature.

If such an observer comes from the vantage ground where we have placed him to intercourse with the men who ordinarily have lived in cities, or who contemplate doing so, he will find their ideas still moving in the old ruts of opinion, the assumed facts as to railways and the steam engine challenged, and himself perhaps regarded as wild and visionary in his conclusions. He can compare steam machinery and railroads now with what they were twenty years ago; he can mention the reduced numbers of vessels on the Hudson, the Mississippi, and the inland lakes in the face of a quadrupled business; he can instance Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, as deriving ten times the advantages from cheap coal which any towns in the country do from water power, or he can analyze the causes of the modern growth of all cities, and prove it to be almost entirely occasioned by causes of which a town like Jackson can get a larger benefit than any town upon the margin of a lake, or on a frontier, or at a distance from coal beds, or without natural facilities for railway traffic; but however clear his proof, a majority of men will continue to act upon their convictions rather than cordially to adopt the conclusions justified by modern inventions and by local advantages.

It is no impeachment of an individuals good sense that he has not familiarized himself with all the conditions relating to the problem of city growth. It would be almost a study by itself: all inventions which come into general use, and especially such as affect commerce or manufacturing operations, vary these conditions. Such things as the distribution of gas and water, means for the prevention of fire, the advertising facilities of daily papers, the good reputation of a town for business, and the advantages of churches and school-houses, are also important, and at Jackson they already exist; but there are things occasioned by the wants of a city and not original causes of its growth. It is always a significant fact for a town where many men become rich, and few become bankrupt by a connection with its business; and it is this fact perhaps as much as the eminent natural advantages or acquired facilities which has attracted business men to this point, and been the reason of its unusual prosperity. Success forms the measure of the common estimate of the relative advantages of cities, and the general public is no more inclined to excuse or forgive a failure than the French national assembly in its conduct with its generals who preceded the first Napoleon.

It is fortunate for Jackson that among its citizens have been men who comprehended its natural advantages, and who have spared neither time nor money in their efforts to develop them. results of their persistent work are now only beginning to be seen. The foundation is laid for a city, while if their anticipations prove true will eventually contain several times its present population. We are trying to make this book a faithful record of what the city now is rather than a representation of what it is to be. An architect can give an opinion as to the magnitude and cost of a house as soon as the foundation is laid, and it is common from similar data to express opinions as to the prospective population, wealth, and business, of growing cities. Jackson people are rarely heard to make such estimates, and seem to be dreading the sneers of their neighbors whenever called upon to exercise their judgment as to the future of their city. Strangers are, perhaps, better qualified to form opinions, and frequently talk of fifty, seventy, or one hundred thousand population before the close of this century. They sometimes insist that a point which is the only one between New England and New York and the northern Mississippi on main railroad lines where cheap coal abounds and other mineral products are valuable, the only city between Chicago and the ocean to which a million and a half of people can conveniently come, do their business, and return on the same day, the best representative in the union, except Indianapolis and Atlanta, of interior cities not dependent upon water communications, and having the advantages over the Indiana city of cheap fuel and of nearness to the great lumber district of Michigan, and over the Georgia city of a country capable of sustaining a denser population, and already inhabited by men possessing northern character and enterprise, a town which, without having any help from outside speculation or outside capital (except upon good securities), more than doubled its population between June 1, 1864, and the same date in 1870, and withal a place where the natural development of its business and industry have already brought it to intimate relations with the entire peninsula and with parts of several other States, does not thus far exist by accident, but rather as the legitimate outgrowth of elements which are permanent as causes of prosperity and cannot fail to produce greater efforts as their importance should be more widely recognized as new capital should be attracted by them, and experience shall teach the best ways of rendering them available. Till within a recent period, Jackson has had many rivals; hearafter, in the race for superiority it can have but few. Jackson must either be a large city or fail to become so by the influence of causes which are not now apparent. Railroads will only become useless when persons, lumber, furniture, and groceries, can be more safely and economically transported through the air, bituminous coal valueless when some artificial combination of water, or the gases shall supercede the concentrated carbon of the mine, lime worthless when the world and all things in it lose their acidity, and fireclay unimportant with the discovery of something better than silex to resist fire, but when all these things shall happen, Jackson will still have the advantage of a wide area for business, and the lines of cities and villages to be reached by aerial trains will continue to converge to this as a convenient starting and distributing point. More violent suppositions than these we suggest will be necessary to those who argue against the future of Jackson, but it will do to admit that when every man has his balloon, with capacity to carry a ship load, and when means shall be devised to so far outspeed the wind that a thousand miles may be accomplished in an hour, and at an expense too small for separate contemplation, and men and women shall do all their shopping at some other city, the period will have arrived which is to terminate the remarkble prosperity of this inland city.

JACKSON IN 1871.

CHANGES THAT TWO YEARS HAVE WROUGHT.

In the two years which have elapsed since the last Directory was published, wherein was described the growth, importance, and prosperity, of this city, great changes have taken place. The most liberal predictions of the most sanguine Jacksonians, in regard to the immediate future of the Central city have been far exceeded by the reality; and, to-day, Jackson, in wealth, population, development, and greatness, is where no one would have dared predict she would advance to in five years, out-stripping all anticipations, and placing her name -all things considered-only one degree below the first city in population and industrial wealth and resources in Michigan. No city in the State, in fact, has shown such proportionate rate of increase as Jackson during the past year. All her activities, her resources, her population, her improvements, having been stimulated in a surprising manner, making her the marvel in history of Peninsular cities, and securing her position as a leader beyond any contingency that can occur.

It is our purpose in this sketch to briefly allude to some of the improvements that have been made in this city within a few months. They tell the story of our swift progress, and are as sure harbingers of our brilliant future as the sunny days and opening flowers of the vernal equinox are the beautiful heralds of the glorious Summer and the ripening, golden Autumn.

Among the most important public works created for Jackson during the year 1870, the Holly Water Works must claim the highest place. This system of water supply for protection against fire, and domestic supply, is the best that has ever been invented by the ingenuity of man. Every hydrant is equal in extinguishing power to the best steam fire engine, and is always ready for its saving work. But it is needless to enlarge upon the effectiveness of the system. Suffice it to say that it meets the entire satisfaction of every one, and is among the most valuable institutions of Jackson. The works which are on Water street are a model of the kind, and have elicited the admiration of thousands of visitors. Over eight miles of water pipe have been laid, and nearly all parts of the city are supplied with water—and the supply is unlimited. The following statement will show the extent and cost of this improvement:

Engine building and coal house,	$14,000
Machinery,	40,000
Eight and one-half miles of pipe,	60,000
Seventy-five hydrants,	4.000

And there is now pipe on hand sufficient to lay two and a half miles additional. The system has been in operation over eight months, and no breakage or defect has been discovered. The running expenses of the works, including everything, will not exceed $4,500 a year, which is much less than any similar works of the kind in the country, as a comparison will clearly demonstrate. In the matter of street-making and improvements, an immense work has been accomplished, and it is of the best character. The Nicholson pavement has been laid upon several streets, and we challenge any city of the size of Jackson to show handsomer avenues. On Main street a splendid change has been wrought. The unsightly depression which has existed on that street has been overcome, and the Nicholson affords a smooth and elegant roadway from Mill street to the Railroad. pavement has also been laid on Cortland street from Jackson street to Francis, and on Luther street from Jackson street to Mechanic street. This has cost, exclusive of grading and filling, about $3 per vard.

Other streets have also been graded, graveled, and otherwise improved.

There has been a great distance of sidewalks, of plank and stone, laid down. On both sides of Main street, from Jackson to Mill street, admirable walks, sixteen feet wide, have been put down, of sawed flagging (Berea stone) costing twenty-two cents a foot, exclusive of curb-stone. There have also been laid sixteen miles of two-inch plank walk, and a great number of substantial crossings. Besides the stone sidewalks, on Main street (136 rods), there are sixty-eight rods around the ward school houses, and about one hundred and ten rods in front of the residences of citizens in different parts of the city. The credit of this series of great public improvements is due, in a great measure, to the public spirit, liberality, and far-seeing wisdom, of Mayor Bennett and his coadjutors, the Common Council of Jackson, (As the names of the Aldermen for the year 1869 appear in a former Directory, we give below only those of 1870), aided as they have been by the enlightened and enterprising citizens of Jackson who, having confidence in those officers, were ready and willing, and ungrudgingly gave them material "aid, and comfort."

The administration of the Mayor and Common Council of Jackson, for the years 1869 and 1870, must ever stand on the records as the most valuable, effective, and efficient, that this city has ever had. Verily, their works do praise them. It is proper to say that Mayor Bennett, as Superintendent, has given his best efforts to the management of the Water Works, and the result is the most judicious and economical administration. The present city council, elected in the Spring of 1871, have increased, under the provisions of the amended charter, the number of wards in the city from four to eight, four being the number under the charter before it was amended. We now have sixteen aldermen instead of eight, among whom are some of our best business men. We predict this council will do a great work for the city.

NEW BUILDINGS.

Jackson is evidently destined to be a city of more than the usual proportion of handsome and substantial buildings. The number of new dwellings, business houses, and manufactories, erected of late, show a progress that is wonderful. On all sides, buildings have risen, as it were, in a day, from the ground. The east and west hills are literally covered with them, and the northern and southern limits of the city tell the same story. And what is better still, the greater number of these edifices are of a superior character. Great credit is due to the following-named gentlemen, who have with great liberality and public spirit erected a large number of very beautiful, substantial, and even elegant, houses for rent and sale, thus meeting a want that has long been felt. Mr. E. A. Webster has erected thirty-six houses at an average value of four thousand dollars each, and is now engaged in completing a magnificent residence for himself on one of the most sightly and most beautiful lots on North Main street. When completed, this dwelling and its lawns and surroundings will not suffer by comparison with the most beautiful homes in the State. Silas Heyser has built twenty-four houses at an average value of $1,-800 each. Mr. Wilcox has built twenty-one houses at an average value of $2.000. Mr. Rufus Heaton has erected nine houses valued at $2.500 each. I. N. Harwood has built seven houses worth on an average $2.000 each. Dr. Palmer has built five houses worth on an average $1.200. Dr. M. A. McNaughton is entitled to credit for placing within the reach of people of limited means, material and ground for building many houses, aiding and encouraging the providing of comfortable homes. Mr. B. C. Harris has also done a good work in this direction. He has made an advance of money to aid in building some twenty-one houses at an average value of $2,000. and he has furnished the ground upon which to place them. This is upon Harris street, on the East Hill, so called. This street is fifty rods long, and has been made one of the best built streets in the city. There are quite a number of other builders and real estate owners who have erected three, four, and five houses each, also a number of citizens who have built for themselves splendid homes. The houses are admirably adapted for the purposes for which they are designed.

They are not "tenant houses" as that word is generally understood, but well built, thoroughly comfortable, convenient, spacious, handsome dwellings.

BUSINESS BLOCKS, PUBLIC BUILDINGS, &c.

The following are the names of those liberal and "live" business men who have erected stores, business blocks, and other buildings, during the past two years. They are substantial, handsome edifices, all of brick except one, modern in style of architecture and finish, and a great addition to the city.

Bumpus, Woodsum & Co., block, 299 Main street.

Benj. J. Mosher & Wm. Jackson, 253 & 254 Main street (Crystal Palace Block).

Rufus Heaton, store, 250 Main street.

Harrison & Pratt, store, 216 Main street.

Merriman & Ford, store, 214 Main street.

Patton Morrison, store, 212 Main street (and two stores on Mechanic street).

W. R. Reynolds' Block north-east corner of Main and Mechanic streets (also a magnificent residence on North Main street on site of the house burned).

E. P. Baker, store, 205 Main street.

Chas. Ford, stores, 203, 201 and 193 Main street. (Mr. Ford has also remodeled and greatly improved a number of buildings and stores, much to the advantage and appearance of the city.)

C. M. Bridgman, store, 202 Main street.

Mrs. A. H. Warner, store, 200 Main street.

Alfred Baily, store, 198 Main street.

W. H. Withington, store, 196 Main street.

S. J. Hobbs, store, 124 Main street.

Smith & Hurd, Hurd House, 186 Main street.

M. A. McNaughton, store, 166 Main street (also a store on Liberty street).

S. Seney, Seney House, 145 Main street.

Chas. N. Lewis, block, 802 Main street.

Stone & Rugg, store, 75 Main street.

Mark Butcher, store, 63 Main street.

Martin Mosher, Mosher House, 60 Jackson street.

Watts & Hood, block of two stores, corner of Jackson and Luther streets.

Henry Hague, block of three stores, on Jackson street north of Main street.

Baptist Church edifice, corner of Jackson and Cortland streets.

- P. E. Pierce, C. L. Pierce and Mrs. H. Dusenbery, block of three stores, on Francis street.
- G. H. Lathrop, Keystone block, junction of Luther and Mill streets (contains a number of stores, offices, &c. The Masonic Hall is also in this fine block).
 - P. Averill, store, on Luther street.

James McCray, block of two stores, on Mechanic street.

Jackson Gaslight Company, works on Clinton street, two large brick buildings and gasometer (a decided and long-needed improvement).

Water Works building and machinery, near L. S. & M. S. R. R. Depot on the river. Splendid building and appointments. Model works throughout.

Wilcox' Planing Mill, Milwaukee street.

PROJECTED BUILDINGS.

Plans have been adopted for new county buildings and Michigan Central Railroad car shops and round house. The work has commenced on county building, and when completed, it will be the handsomest and most complete of any west of Detroit.

In this connection, it is proper to refer to some of the prominent promoters of the prosperity of Jackson. We have alluded to those who were foremost in railroad enterprises; the names we give below (together with those more closely identified with railroad matters already mentioned) are of persons who have aided, as capitalists, many of the prominent enterprises of Jackson. W. D. Thompson, Allen Bennett, Wiley R. Reynolds, Alonzo Bennett, E. A. Webster, Dwight Merriman, G. H. Lathrop, and Daniel B. Hibbard.

JACKSON AS A RAILROAD CENTER.

The railroad system of Jackson is one of its most prominent and effective features, and the enterprise, vigor, and comprehensive foresight, of the leading citizens of this city, is perhaps more clearly exhibited in this great work than in all others. In a former work, as well as in another article of this volume, the extent of this development of our wealth is portrayed, and the part performed by our capitalists in the earlier road, detailed. Beginning with the steps taken to finish the Central Railroad to this point, and the great value that enterprise was to us, as well as the great amount of traffic and business upon that magnificent iron highway, we passed to a review of the other roads which connect with it, and which so stimulated the growth of Jackson. These roads we shall mention in detail, as well as those others which have been more recently added, and which have made this city the greatest railroad center in Michigan.

There are now completed to Jackson, seven railroads, and these great arteries of traffic radiate in seven directions on so many different lines, penetrating to the most valued sources of wealth and material in this State, reaching out to the great Iron Ore Deposits of the upper Peninsula, the Salt Wells of Saginaw Valley, the pine and other timber forests of Northern Michigan; and on the south, to sources as valuable, and affording connections with the East, West, and Southern system of railroads, making this a nucleus and a central competing point for all classes of business, giving us facilities for cheap freight rarely excelled, and of incalculable value to every citizen. It is only fair and just in a record like this to give the names of those gentlemen who have been foremost in first projecting these different lines of railroad, and then, with a zeal, devotion, self-sacrifice, and liberality, so remarkable and praiseworthy, making these projects actual, living, and productive realities. It would require thousands of pages to detail the difficulties, the obstacles, and labor, which these men had to encounter before success and accomplishment crowned their efforts, and their designs and wishes grew from the germ of thought and purpose into the perfected work. We cannot, for want of space, give the names of all who contributed to these enterprises, though we would gladly give credit to all who have given by their means to aid the projectors. Foremost among those citizens to whom Jackson is indebted for her prosperity in railroads, we would mention Eugene Pringle, Amos Root, M. A. McNaughton, W. D. Thompson, P. B. Loomis, Henry A. Hayden, J. B. Eaton, and H. H. Smith.

These gentlemen are really the originators and builders of these roads, for it was through their energy, liberalities, and financial ability, that the projects conceived by them were so speedily and successfully carried into execution. In addition to those named above, we would mention E. A. Webster, J. E. Beebe, Dwight Merriman, W. H. Withington, and S. O. Knapp, all of whom have contributed, to some extent, aid in carrying out these enterprises.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The main line of this road is 284 miles long, and traverses one of the most populous and productive sections of Michigan. it connects with the Great Western; at Grand Trunk Junction, with the Grand Trunk Railway; at Jackson, with Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw, Grand River Valley, Mich. Air Line, and Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroads; at Nottawa, with Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad; at Three Rivers, with Kalamazoo Division, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad; at Battle Creek, with Peninsular R. R.; at Kalamazoo, with Grand Rapids & Indiana, and Kalamazoo & South Haven Railroads; at New Buffalo, with Chicago & Lake Shore R. R.; at Michigan City, with Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railway; at Lake, with Branch to Joliet; at Calumet, with Illinois Central; and at Chicago, with the principle lines north, west, and south. road has several very important branches, such as the Air Line, the Grand River Valley, the Kalamazoo & South Haven, the Chicago & Lake Shore, the Joliet Branch. These arms reaching out from the main line ramify the best region of country in Michigan and Illinois, in all nearly 1,000 miles of road under control of one management. equipment and rolling stock of this company is among the very best in use.

The officers of the Michigan Central Railroad are, James F. Joy, Prest., Detroit; H. E. Sargent, Gen. Supt., Chicago; Chas. H. Hurd, Asst. Gen. Supt., Detroit; C. D. Whitcomb, Gen. Ticket Agent, Detroit; A. S. Swift, Jr., Master Mechanic; J. B. Sutherland, Master Car Builder, Detroit; C. E. Noble, Gen. Eastern agent, 349 Broadway, N.Y.; H. C. Wentworth, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago; Jas. Newell, Purchasing Agent, Detroit; M. D. Woodford, Telegraphic Supt., Kalamazoo.

JACKSON, LANSING AND SAGINAW RAILROAD.

This is one of the most important roads leading into Jackson. It is now fully equipped and doing business as far north as Wenona, 116 miles from Jackson, and thence north to Kawkawlin. It is to be extended to Mackinaw as soon as possible; indeed considerable work has already been done. This will give this road one of the best districts in Michigan for lumber traffic. The amount of business already done by the road is immense, and is doubling every year. It connects with the Mich. Central, Lake Shore & Mich. Southern, Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw, Grand River Valley, Ionia & Lansing, Detroit & Milwaukee, and Flint & Pere Marquette Railroads.

The officers of this successful route are H. A. Hayden, Prest.; O. M. Barnes, Secretary; W. D. Thompson, Treasurer; A. Watson, Gen. Superintendent.

FORT WAYNE, JACKSON AND SAGINAW RAILROAD.

This is to be the great Southern Route from Jackson for passenger and freight business, opening for Jackson a region to supply, heretofore inaccessible. It is finished to Fort Wayne, a distance of 100 miles; connects with the Mich. Central, Grand River Valley, Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw, Mich. Air Line; Lake Shore & Mich. Southern; Air Line Mich. Southern Railway, Toledo, Wabash & Western, Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago, and Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cincinnati Railroads. Four trains each way every day.

The officers are P. B. Loomis, Prest., Jackson; William A. Ernst, Gen. Superintendent; E. Pringle, Secretary; B. S. Chapin, Jackson, Treasurer.

GRAND RIVER VALLEY RAILROAD.

(Leased and operated by the Mich. Central Railroad company.) This road connects Jackson with Grand Rapids, and traverses a splendid farming country, making at each end of the road the best connections. It is 149 miles long, adding the northern extension to Muskegon and Whitehall. This road reaches to the base of supplies in the pine lumber region of Michigan.

The following are the officers of this road: H. E. Sargent, Gen. Supt., Chicago, Ill.; Chas. B. Bush, Assist. Supt., Jackson. Four trains daily each way. This road makes connections with all the principal roads centering here and at Grand Rapids.

MICHIGAN AIR LINE RAILWAY.

This road is essentially a Jackson road, though, in reality, a branch of the Michigan Central. It traverses a very rich and fertile farming region, and at present has its eastern terminus here. Its headquarters are here, and will remain. This road materially shortens the distance between Detroit and Chicago, and will be used for all fast passenger and through freight trains. It unites Jackson with Niles, and this division is 102 miles in length. There are some twenty-two miles completed, and fifteen miles of this road in operation east of Jackson J. B. Eaton is President; M. A. McNaughton, Managing Director, and A. A. Bedell, of Ridgeway, Asst. Supt.

LAKE SHORE AND MICHIGAN SOUTHERN RAILWAY (JACKSON BRANCH).

This is the oldest road leading to Jackson after the Central was completed. A great amount of business is done on this route; and it is the most powerful competitor of the Central for eastern business. It was completed in 1857. It unites Jackson with Adrian, Toledo and the East. It has always been a favorite route with Jackson shippers and business men, and is, like the principal line of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, admirably managed. It connects at Toledo with the main line, with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton for Cincinnati, Louisville, and the south; at Monroe Junction with the line to Chicago; at Detroit with the Detroit & Milwaukee Railroad, and with the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada. The agent at Jackson is Alonzo E. Billings. At Jackson connections can be made with the Northern and Southern routes centering here.

A new project is now engaging the attention of our railroad men. This is the Hudson and Jackson railroad. Everything now indicates that this road will be pushed forward to an early completion.

COAL.

Jackson has become famous for its extensive coal mines; all the more so, for the reason that thus far it has been the only place in Michigan where coal has been mined to any considerable extent. There are three mines now being worked, two within the city limits, and one at Woodville, a few miles west of the city. To carry on and operate two of these mines, requires the labor of one hundred and twenty-three men. One of the mines, the Porter Coal Company, has just commenced operations. About twenty-eight thousand tons were mined by the two companies in full operation during the past year. There is an immense supply of coal underlying the city and surrounding country—a source of great wealth to Jackson.

MANUFACTURING.

STATISTICS.

NUMBER OF NAMES.

The whole number of names contained in this directory is 4,640. This is an increase of 801 names over the number contained in the Directory of 1869 and 1,740 over the number contained in the Directory of 1867.

NUMBER OF HOUSES.

The present number of dwelling houses in the city, as counted by the Directory canvassers, is 2,357, in 1869 there were 1,762, in 1867 1,346; showing an increase in four years, of ten hundred and eleven houses, and in two years, from 1867 to 1869, of four hundred and twenty-six, and from 1869 to 1871, five hundred and ninety-five; and the indications now are that the number of buildings to be erected this year will exceed that of any two years in our history.

5,544.

POPULATION.

The population of Jackson at present is 13,920.

The population of Jackson according to the United States census of 1870 was 11,448.

In 1869, according to census taken by the directory corps, it was 10,023.

In 1867, according to census taken by the Directory corps, it was 8,076.

This table is interesting as showing the remarkable increase in the population of this city. In seven years the number of inhabitants has almost trebled, and it will be seen that each year enlarges the rates of increase.

In 1864, according to State census, it was Below we have given a number of personal notices of a number of liberal and enterprising business men. See index to advertisements.

Birdsall, Baker & Co., wholesale grocers, No. 231 Main Street This is a new firm, but it has already secured an immense trade. Their house is one of the very largest in Michigan, and success has met their efforts at the outset. They began trade on the first of January of the present year. Their store is not only stocked full from cellar to garret, but it is the largest, neatest, and most attractive one on Main Street. These gentlemen bring almost unlimited capital, thorough acquaintance, liberal views, and a knowledge of the wants of the public, to their business. They have had years of experience in this branch of trade in New York. In private life, their standing is unexceptionable, being genial, liberal-hearted gentlemen, young, devoted to business, and determined to make their house the first and most extensive grocery establishment in the west. We take pleasure in recommending Messrs. Birdsall, Baker & Co., to the public, as they are men that will win their way to the confidence and good wishes of the people of Central Michigan.

Hatch, Claffin & Pettengill, No. 221 Main Street, manufacturers of men and boys' kip, calf and stoga boots, women and men's pegged and sewed calf shoes and fine goods. This firm is consolidated of Hatch, Claffin & Co., and W. & S. G. Pettengill, now under the name and style as above. They are prison manufacturers, and employ fifty men. They personally superintend their work, and all materials used are of carefully selected stock. It is their purpose to put upon the market the most valuable goods in their line of trade, working more for a permanent and desirable reputation than for mere temporary profit at the expense of others. Messrs. H. C. & P. intend that their trade mark shall be a sufficient guaranty that their boots and shoes are reliable for all they are recommended. These gentlemen compose a manufacturing firm that is foremost in enterprise, integrity, standing, and ability, among those who are doing so much for the credit of this city.

Prof. J. C. Lowell, Real Estate, Insurance, and Loan Agent, No. 259 Main Street. One of the most reliable and prominent of our business men. Prof. Lowell came to Jackson in 1861, and for three years served the city acceptably, as associate principal of Union School. Soon after, he became the principal superintendent, and held that position for about three years. After this six years of service in educating the youth of Jackson, Prof. Lowell engaged in the Real Estate and Insurance business on the first of May, 1868. Bringing to this department of business, an active, cultivated mind, and energetic habits, he rapidly increased his business, until it became one of our most extensive real estate and loan agencies. Prof. Lowell makes a specialty of loaning money. He may be safely relied upon as a gentleman of honor and integrity; is prompt, energetic, capable.

Weeks & Rogers, successors to Weeks & Van Dyne. Mr. Weeks, the senior member of this firm, although a young man, has grown up with this city, having been in Jackson twenty-three years, and not only is a first-class printer, but is admirably qualified for the business he is the head of, by long experience. Mr. Rogers was for several years local editor of the Daily Citizen, and is a gentleman of learning and excellent character. He was elected this spring one of the aldermen of the city. The Republican is a first-class weekly paper, growing steadily into favor, and is already a necessity to a great number of people. This is a firm that in their business unite qualities that assure success.

Jackson Daily & Weekly Citizen. Not to know and be familiar with the Citizen, is to argue yourself unknown. It is one of the most prominent, able, and influential Republican journals in Michigan, a local champion of the central city that has done probably as much as any other cause to make the present prosperity of Jackson. It is the herald's trumpet that has blown upon every breeze the advantages and the resources of Jackson, and has manfully and eloquently advocated and defended its interests. James O'Donnell is the present publisher and editor-in-chief. A successful, spicy, enterprising, interesting journal.

Hobart & Bolton, retail grocers, No. 83 Jackson. An extensive establishment, and one that for years has held a first-class place among our business houses. Messrs. H. & B. keep always on hand a most complete and excellent assortment of family groceries and articles pertaining to their trade. Customers are sure to always obtain what they call for, their selections being carefully made of the best goods which the largest markets can afford. Years of experience in buying and a perfect acquaintance with the wants of the public, enable them to buy at the most advantageous rates, the benefit of which is secured to their patrons. They are gentlemen that can be relied upon in all business transactions, and in all trusts reposed in them in the highest affairs of life.

In saddlery hardware, harness goods, and trunks, there is no better firm in Jackson than D. A. Tinker & Co, No. 251 Main Street. The name of this firm was recently changed from that formerly known for years, A. M. Tinker & Co., the change occurring on the first of January last. A. B. Tinker, the senior member of the firm, is thoroughly acquainted with the practical part of the business, having spent a great many years in making and selling harnesses. His son, D. A. Tinker, is an active young man of strict integrity and excellent business habits. The firm has many friends, and is daily adding to the number, and a stock of goods admirable and complete.

D. B. Freeman, dealer in boots and shoes, No. 236 Main Street. Mr. Freeman began business at his present location in July, 1870, and has succeeded in fixing an excellent impression upon the minds of the people of Jackson as a reliable dealer in articles which he keeps. And few men are more deserving of a large trade than he. Long experience, taste in the selection of goods, has made assurance of success thereby; and also by doing business "on the square" with all who deal with him. It is safe to buy goods of such men.

L. Lindemer, gunsmith, No. 117 Mechanic Street, has always on hand a good supply of guns, fishing tackle, and sporting outfits. A capital workman, a mechanic who knows as much about the way a gun should be kept, and as well qualified to put it into the best of condition, as any man in the State. His shop is a favorite resort for all who want a good "shooting iron" or fowling piece, and those who desire repairs upon the same. A happy, generous son of Gambrinus, and a gentleman by nature, Lindemer is a name for good work and good fellowship.

P. H. Vandyne has recently established a new printing office on the ground floor at No. 209 Main Street, opposite the post-office, easy of access to all, and fully supplied with new and most popular styles of printer's material, for jobbing, &c. This is the only exclusive book and job printing house in Jackson. Turn to the Business Directory and see his beautiful colored leaf and then you will not wonder that his name is heralded throughout this entire section of the country. He is a neat, tasty and reliable job printer. He is prepared to do all kinds of work from a poster to a wedding card. Everybody who knows Van will give evidence that he is an excellent, tasteful printer, and clever fellow, and entirely reliable in all his dealings. He will do well.

Calvin Case, dentist, may always be found, during business hours, at his pleasant rooms, No. 10, Marion House Block, No. 266 Main Street. Mr. Case was for some time associated with Mr. Robinson in this business, but has recently become his own partner. He is a young man peculiarly fitted for the profession he has adopted, both by study and experience, having graduated with distinction at the Ohio College of Dental Surgery, one of the best institutions of the kind in the country. His office is a model of neatness, and his working-rooms supplied with the best instruments used by this useful profession. His success is certain.

Warren N. Buck & Co., Real Estate and Insurance Agency, No. 249 Main Street. This firm possesses an advantage to begin with, in a name that is known (and known favorably, too), not only in Jackson, but throughout the State. Mr. Buck, the senior member, was among the earliest pioneers of this city, coming here in 1838. He has served the city honorably in many ways, twice as its chief executive. He is a gentleman with whom business intercourse is an enjoyment which one does not soon forget. Mr. Ford, his partner, is a young man well known, much respected, energetic and correct in habits and in his life. This firm are doing an excellent business.

Warner & Dodge, dealers in hardware, No. 242 Main Street. This firm have adopted the strictly cash system of trade, and are determined to work by that rule, giving their patrons the best of prices and the most generous treatment. Although they are young men, they have had years of practical experience, and continue the business established here at an early day by B. J. Billings.

H. E. Southworth, dealer in Crockery, China and Glassware, No. 244 Main Street. Mr. S. has been engaged in this business here only a year, but his former experience in this line of trade has been extensive, and under most favorable circumstances. His store is 22 feet wide by 120 feet deep, two stories, and a basement; besides this, he has a very large warehouse, well filled with goods. These are continually supplied with new goods to enable him to fill orders in his jobbing trade. Mr. S. is a young man of excellent business habits, plenty of capital, and ambitious to do as large business as any man with capital and energy can. His store is a model of neatness, and admirably designed for his business.

Gilbert, Ransom & Knapp, Manufacturers of Furniture, State Prison Works. It is needless to speak in detail of this well-known Their names are familiar to everybody throughout the west, as they rank among the largest and most reliable manufacturers of furniture of all descriptions. Their goods are sold all through the west, and are always chosen in preference to other makers, for the reason that nothing leaves their extensive manufactory that is "unsound." The quantities of household furniture produced by this firm are almost incredible, embracing some of the most elegant and costly work. Their stores, Nos. 243 & 258 Main Street, are splendid buildings, and contain a varied stock, containing all that is desirable in the line of furniture and house furnishing goods. They give employment to a number of men, in addition to the large gang of convicts, and no firm in this country that manufactures furniture, can afford to undersell Their sales are continually increasing, and the business they do is colossal.

Jacob Beiswenger, architect and builder, No. 17 Wesley Street. A good, reliable builder, and any work intrusted to him will be faithfully executed. He is thoroughly reliable in all his business engagements. His facilities for doing work in this line are ample. Mr. B. erected the building he now occupies, and is permanently located among us as a builder and architect.

Jackson Fire Clay Co., Ralph Connable Secretary and Treasurer. Organized 1867. Manufacture stone, drain, tile, sewer, pipe and fire brick. This thoroughly equipped and experienced association have 120 acres of land, first-class buildings, and all the requisite appointments. The main building is 50×100 , three stories, of brick. In addition to this are numerous other buildings, sheds, &c., five kilns, use 30 horse power steam engine, and the company turns out an immense amount of work which ranks the highest in quality of any in the market. Manufactory on Cooper Street near corporate limits. Mr. Ralph Connable is one of Jackson's best men, in business or in social life.

P. B. Loomis & Co., bankers, No. 203 Main Street. This firm is composed of Loomis & B. S. Chapin of Dansville, N. Y. Mr. L. is too well known as one of our leading business men and most prominent citizens, to make it necessary to more than announce his name. Mr. Chapin, though a comparative stranger, was elected alderman last spring. That is enough to say about him. The business of this firm is conducted with ability, and in such a manner as to enjoy the patronage and confidence of the community.

Robert Bailey, No. 198 Main Street, is one of the best photographers in the city, and an artist that would make friends and customers anywhere. His rooms are kept neat and handsome, and well stocked with the et ceteras of the photographic business, such as frames, &c. Marcus Kerr, an artist of superior talent, has rooms with Mr. Bailey, and colors pictures in oil or water with admirable taste and effect. His ink work is wonderful.

Bumpus, Woodsum & Co., manufacturers and wholesale dealers in boots and shoes, 299 Main Street. This firm do a very large business in this line of trade, and rank with the largest in the State. Their goods find a ready and extensive sale in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and other States. They occupy the splendid store, No. 299 Main Street, which is 10 rods deep, 22 feet wide, and three stories high, besides a basement, devoted to manufacturing and jobbing. Seventy-five skilled mechanics are employed in manufacturing. Mr. Noyes, the junior member of this firm, is a young man, but was so well thought of that he was elected Mayor last spring. The gentlemen composing this firm are widely and favorably known.

Mrs. L. A. Johns, dressmaker, No. 119 Jackson Street, commenced business in this line, Dec. 1, 1870. In March following connected with her business the renovating of clothing. She has a new and very effective chemical process for cleansing clothes. That is the place to go to have clothing completely renovated, so far as art can accomplish it.

Isaiah Trefry, horticulturist, &c., a most successful cultivator. He keeps on hand a choice selection of plants. His green house is literally filled with the multitudinous children of Flora, being capable of holding 10,000 plants. His exhibition of flowers at the last State Fair attracted universal attention and was greatly admired. Patronize Trefry for plants and flowers. His place on Maple Street is full of beautiful things.

Messrs. Brown & Van Horn, retail dealers in groceries and provisions, flour, feed and grain, No. 293 Main Street. An excellent firm, a pleasant and inviting store, and a complete assortment in their line of trade. They started in the competitive race for trade in January, 1871, and have already established a busy trade, and a large company of customers. They bring to their business what is the element of success, liberality, experience, and an extensive acquaintance.

The One Dollar Store, one of the most popular centers of trade in the city. Everything, almost, is for sale here at the uniform price of one dollar. The proprietors buy up whole cargoes of imported goods, entire make of large factories, and possessing unusual facilities, Messrs. Hiram Gay & Co. are enabled to sell best goods at less than other wholesalers buy them. Call and see what they have for sale.

Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine. This famous labor-saving machine is too well known to need any praise in this volume. Go ask your neighbor on either side of you, near or remote, what the W & W is, and they will enthusiastically remark, in language so plain, that they would not do without the machine for twice its cost.

Dudley & Cromwell, barber shop & bath rooms, 252 Main Street, successors to C. C. Page. They have the nicest bath and tonsorial rooms to be found anywhere; neat and tasteful, heated by steam, and handsomely appointed and equipped, and are doing a splendid business. They take pride in their business, and have an establishment that is a model of its kind in every particular.

- W. D. Fritts, lawyer and claim agent, No. 214 Main Street. Mr. Fritts has lived in, and near, the city for several years, and is generally known. In connection with his law business, he gives his attention to securing claims. By his devotion to business he has secured a fair share of public patronage.
 - W. I. Bronson, physician and surgeon, No 216 Main Street. The doctor is an old resident, and well posted in his profession. As an occulist and aurist he is very successful, and has had fine success in the treatment of cases. Dr. B. is widely known and has an extensive practice.

- C. C. Burt, attorney and counselor at law, No 214 Main Street. Although Mr. Burt has been in practice here but a short time, he has built up a business which is constantly increasing.
- E. B. Smith & Co. (composed of E. B. Smith, W. N. Hartshorn and J. B. Upham), dealers in books and stationery, one of the largest, most enterprising and reliable business firms in the city.

Holland & Chapman. This firm was organized August 15th, 1870. Mr. Holland, the senior member of the firm, has done business here for many years, and a more honorable and thoroughly reliable business man could not be found. Mr. Chapman is a young man of excellent character, a thorough business man and a gentleman.

R. BAILEY, PHOTOGRAPHER,

10, 198 MAIN STREI

One of the most complete Galleries in the State. Pictures of every description taken in the highest style of the art: Old pictures copied to any size, and beautifully colored in ink, oil, and water colors.

First Gallery West of the Hurd House.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Should you wish respectfully to have your photograph colored, or otherwise, into a beautiful style of picture, unsurpassed for softness, beauty, and life-like tints, in water colors, and India Ink, thereby securing a quality of work that never fails to suit, you will undoubtedly do well to make use of this opportunity.

PRICE LIST.

SIZE OF FRAME.	ENLARGING.	OIL.	WATER COLORS.	INDIA INK.
4x4,	$2.50,	$ 7.00,	$ 3.00,	$ 2.50.
8x10,	2.75,	8.00,	4.00.	3.00.

1000 CHALLENGE.

QUESTIONS TO BE CONSIDERED IN BUYING A SEWING MACHINE!

What are the desirable features of a Family Sewing Machine?

What are the desirable reatures of a family sewing Machine?

It must be simple in construction, that it may be easily learned, and not liable to get out of order; silent in operation, rapid in the execution of work, easily changed from one kind of work to another; capable of doing every variety of work; must run easy, so as not to fatigue the operator, and with all these, must be durable.

What machine possesses these qualifications in the highest degree?

The Wheeler & Wilson!

It is the only machine which makes the lock stitch with a rotating hook, thus avoiding the annoyance of a shuttle.

Is the Wheeler & Wilson simple in construction, that it may be easily learned, and not liable to get out of order?

We will Give $1,000

For any standard Shuttle Machine now in market that does not contain at least twenty more pieces, and consequently so many more to learn how to manage, and to get out of order, than the Wheeler & Wilson.

Is the Wheeler & Wilson silent in its operation?

We will Give $1.000

For any Shuttle Machine that runs as still as the Wheeler & Wilson. Will the Wheeler & Wilson sew rapidly?

We will Give $1,000

For any Shuttle Machine in the market that will sew ten yards of seam as quickly as the

Is the Wheeler & Wilson easily changed from one kind of work to another?

We will Give $1,000

For any Shuttle Machine upon which the changes of needle, thread, stitch, and tension, can be as quickly made as upon the Wheeler & Wilson.

Will the Wheeler & Wilson do all kinds of work required of a Family Sewing Machine?

We will Give $1,000

For any Sewing Machine (beside the Wheeler & Wilson) that will duplicate the line of samples now on exhibition at our office.

Does the Wheeler & Wilson run easy?

We will Give $1,000

For any standard Shuttle Machine that runs as easily as the Wheeler & Wilson.

Is the Wheeler & Wilson durable?

Answer .- Its joints are so constructed that the wear can be taken up as fast as it accumulates, and the oldest machine thus be made to operate as perfectly and run as silently as when new.

We will Give $1,000

For any Shuttle Machine in the market with joints adjustable like the Wheeler & Wilson. A machine whose merit has achieved a success without a precedent.

Half a Million having been sold

Warranted three years by a responsible company, brought to the house of the purchaser without extra charge, instruction given in its use, and satisfaction guaranteed, it is no experiment to buy; and we know of no investment which pays a better interest, or brings more comfort, health, happiness, and relief, to the household.

JOB PRINTING

the Special Notice on the opposite side of this leaf. And why? The principal reason is because it is ATTRACTIVE, and cannot be passed by unnoticed. Just such Printing as that is now daily being turned out at the newly established Ground Floor Printing House, opposite the Postoffice, Jackson, Mich. On this quality of work, we may truthfully say, Mr. Vandynshas no competitor in Jackson, and no superior in the State. This fine work was printed at a single impression, at the rate of 2,000 per hour, on one of Van Dyne's Franklin Job Presses.

Established March 1, 1871.
